What is the fiber optic connector on the optical module Is it LC or SC

Overview

Most SFP fiber optic modules use LC connectors, while SC connectors are mainly found in legacy networks and MPO/MTP connectors are used for high-density cabling rather than directly on standard SFP modules. They come in various types like SC, LC, ST, and MTP, each designed for specific. Of the more than a dozen types of fibre-optic connectors available, the four most commonly used today are LC, SC, FC, and ST. Unlike fiber splicing, which is permanent, connectors allow for easy connection and disconnection of cables, making them ideal for maintenance and flexibility in. The LC connector, whose full name is Lucent Connector, was developed by Lucent Technologies in the early 2000s. It is the most well-known SFF (Small Form Factor) connector in the fiber optic industry.
